One hundred Carmel Highlands residents won a brief victory when the county planning commission postponed, for 30 days, consideration of designs for a co-operative apartment project on ocean-side cliffs below Highway One.

Spurred by the desire to save a spectacular stretch of scenic coastline, also the wish to block large-scale development in their quiet residential community, these admirable men and women planned strategy at last week's Carmel Highlands Association meeting; Tuesday travelled to Salinas, in private cars and a chartered bus, to battle with the county commission for the preservation of their desired way of life.

They fought well because they are used to defensive actions. They have, in the past, realized that an advisory committee to the county planning commission, architectural design control and one-acre building sites provide no protection against retirement home, subdivision and motel invasion. Each of these uses in their area they abhor.

A detailed map showing every present off-street and on-street parking space in the business district, prepared by the city's administrative staff, will be ready for study by the planning commission shortly, City Building Inspector Floyd Adams told commissioners yesterday afternoon.

In order to carry out the city council's directive to prepare a parking program for the commercial district, commissioners had asked for reports on present parking from the city's administrative staff, police and fire departments. The map will be the first of a series of these reports in pictorial form, Mr. Adams added.

Adjusted School Budget Does Not Meet State Law

The Carmel school board tangled for the first time last night with a revised preliminary budget for the 1962-63 school year of $1,797,620, a figure which would rise to $1,911,730 if the new salary schedule proposed by the Association of Carmel Teachers is adopted. This year's budget was $1,718,451.

Although the first figure represents a $94,250 reduction compared with an earlier, "scare" budget presented tentatively to the board earlier in the month, the set of figures has already produced one major headache for the board:

It does not meet requirements of the law passed by the 1961 California Legislature requiring that in unified school districts 55 per cent of the sum of the first six budget classifications (administration, instruction, auxiliary salaries and wages, operation, maintenance and fixed charges) must be spent for salaries of classroom teachers, exclusive of counseling time.

The first six items on the Carmel preliminary budget, which includes the new teacher salary schedule, amount to $1,644,624, which is $14,388 over the 55 per cent requirement, with classroom teacher salaries only 54.5 percent of the amount.

Penalty for not meeting the state law, it was explained, would be forfeiture of an entire $14,388 if it cannot be established that the infraction was unavoidable, and half the amount even if the infraction is allowed on appeal to the state.

"We are only one board among many all over the state facing this dilemma," Superintendent of Schools Stuart Mitchell said. He said the law had gone into effect after boards in most districts had already been committed to preliminary budget figures.

Projected income to the district in 1962-63 showed up in figures presented last night as $1,916,515, a figure which includes an estimated net ending balance of $350,066 for this year's budget.

Venerable Sunset May Be Rejuvenated School Board Says

A re-examination of Carmel's school facilities balanced against number of elementary students enrolled in the fall led the school board last night to take under study a plan for opening Sunset School this fall to a full load of kindergartners through sixth graders.

Trustees had earlier considered closing Sunset to all but one kindergarten class and a sixth grade class, and operating the district's central offices at Sunset with a reduced maintenance staff, but with plans to reactivate the school as a K-6 accommodation as soon as need arose.

"The need is now," board member Clayton Neill, Jr., said. "The neighborhoods around Woods and Sunset represent centers of population that are reasonably stable. If having K-6 grades at Sunset is our long-range plan, then let's head toward it now."

Dr. Robert Newton said he would be for the proposal "because it reaffirms our concept of 'the neighborhood' (Continued on Page Sixteen)

"LAWN PARTY" FOR DOGS

The Monterey County Health Department and the City of Carmel will hold a "lawn party" on Tuesday morning from 10:00 to 12:00 o'clock at the City Hall. An invitation is extended to all Carmel dogs who have not had rabies vaccinations for two or more years to come (accompanied by their owners) to receive their shots, and at the same time to obtain their new licenses. City Hall says that "there will be goodies on hand for the guests."

Dogs not requiring rabies shots this year are politely requested not to be present at the party. Their owners may come to the City Hall for licenses which during the month of May are available for $2.00, and will be $3.00 thereafter. The reduced fee for vaccination on Thursday will be $1.50.

Dog owners outside the city limits may apply for licenses by mail to the County Clerk, Salinas. Evidence of vaccination within the past two years should accompany the application.

PADRE NINE LOSES TO PACIFIC GROVE AND PALMA

Carmel High's varsity baseball team ran its losing streak to 12 straight during the past week, dropping a 6-4 decision to the Palma Chieftans and losing a league game to the strong Pacific Grove Breakers, 2 to 0. The Padres take on more league opposition this Saturday morning at King City where they face both junior-varsity and varsity opposition from the Mustangs.

Although they have yet to hit the win column this season, the Padre pastimers are coming closer with each outing and could get over the hump against the fifth-place King City squad. In the Palma game, the Padres enjoyed a 2-0 bulge until the sixth heat when the Chieftans rallied to knot the count at 2-2. The scrappy Carmel gang picked up a run in the bottom of the sixth and another in the seventh, but the visiting Chieftans pushed across four markers in the final heat to put the game away. Skip Michaelson pitched stellar ball against the Chieftans for five innings only to lose the nod in the last two frames.

BENEFIT BREAKFAST FOR BOYS' BASEBALL LEAGUE

Spearheaded by the Monterey Peninsula Board of Realtors, a gigantic benefit breakfast is slated for this Saturday morning at the Monterey County Fairgrounds to raise funds to help finance the Little League, Pony League, Babe Ruth League, and Connie Mack League teams of Carmel, Monterey, Carmel Valley, Pacific Grove, Seaside, and Fort Ord. Peninsula merchants have contributed all the ingredients for the wholesome breakfast with Fort Ord supplying the cooks and kitchen help. The breakfast menu includes all the pancakes you can eat, little pig sausages, orange juice, milk, and coffee—the price is right—50c. In Carmel, tickets may be secured at Jack Miller's San Carlos Agency and from Little League players. Tickets may also be purchased at the Fairgrounds Saturday morning from 7:00 to 11:00 o'clock.

URGENT NEED FOR MINOR LEAGUE MANAGERS

With the season due to open in about two weeks, the farm teams of the Carmel Little League are under a handicap due to lack of managers for four of the teams. Anyone wishing to lend a hand in this vital recreational field is asked to contact Mark Johnston, Carmel Little League President, at MA 4-2244. Rocky Point Lodge, Surf N' Sand, Derek Rayne, and Carmel Plaza are equipped with managers, but the American Legion, Rockets, Mission Ranch, and Village Inn all need managers and assistant managers. The Farm League games are held on Saturday and there is a practice session or two during the week to prime the players for Saturday's league action.

arrested by the Nazis for his activities in the underground movement. In April, 1945, he escaped from a prisoner transport. From 1946-1947 he served with the state government of Wuerttemberg-Hohenzollern at Tuebingen. He was elected a member of the constitutional assembly, and later the state legislature. IN CALIFORNIA, despite the blizzard of '62, stagecoaches kept rolling on the Salt Lake City to San Francisco run. After arriving in California these rugged travelers often relaxed with a refreshing glass of beer.

For even then, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation. Beer still provides enjoyment for Californians, as well as a good living for the 26,300 employees and the many suppliers of the California Brewing Industry.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

Four prizes, two for a couple, also one each for a man and a woman, will be given in each of the following costume categories: most beautiful; most original; most authentic; most daring.

Paintings donated for prizes in the above classifications are on exhibition this week at AFA headquarters on the east side of Lincoln Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues. After the ball, winners will have until May 1 to pick up their prizes.

Artists who have donated the paintings are Leonard Heller, Nancy Johnson, Sam Colburn, John Boit Morse, Ruth Buffington, Kay Newell, S. F. B. Morse, Marie Rowland, Marion Douglas, Mildred Hall, Marjorie Ribbel, Kaaf Fasett, and Si Ostermeier.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hemming have added a watercolor to the other works of art which will be awarded as prizes. Lenore Woolams has donated an order for a sculptured head; Claire Davison and Marjorie Schifferle, each an order for a portrait sketch.

Tickets ($5.00 per person) are available to the public and may be obtained at the Fairgrounds Saturday evening or at AFA headquarters tomorrow and Saturday.

Dancing will begin at 9:00 o'clock. The Grand March past the judges will begin at 10:30 o'clock. At midnight there will be a pageant, directed by David Walton. Patricia Cunningham is in charge of decorations which will transform the huge hall into a wondrously exciting ballroom.

All proceeds from the Exotica Orientale Ball will go to support the local AFA chapter, a non-profit art group.

Marilyn Smith

Dr. Marilyn Decker Smith, 37, of Carmel died early Sunday at her Rancho Rio Vista home following a long period of failing health.

A native of Lincoln, Nebraska, Dr. Smith had been a resident of the Peninsula for the past dozen years. She was the wife of Dr. Clyn Smith, Jr., and the mother of Clyn Smith, III, Sharon and Brian Smith, all of Carmel.

Dr. Smith was born April 30, 1924. She received her AB degree in 1951 and her MD degree in 1954 at Stanford University. She had also attended Eastern New Mexico University, the University of California, the University of New Mexico, Agnes Scott College and Emory University. Her internship was served at Santa Clara County Hospital, San Jose.

Among her many activities she included service on the local boards of a number of organizations: the Visiting Nurses Association, the American Cancer Society, the National Neurological Research Foundation, the Heart Association, the Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association.

Although her illness was of long duration, she remained active until the time of her death, having accompanied her family on an Easter weekend trip to San Francisco.

In addition to her husband and children, Dr. Smith is survived by her parents, Professor and Mrs. Herrman Theodore Decker of Portales, New Mexico, and a brother, Dr. John T. Decker of El Paso, Texas.

Funeral services were conducted ed yesterday morning at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel. The Reverends Harvey Buck, David Hill and H. M. M. Nicholas officiated. Private interment followed at Cementerio El Encinal in Monterey. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Friends may make contributions as memorials to Dr. Smith with the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, P. O. Box 906, Monterey, or the National Neurological Research Foundation, P. O. Box 1111, Carmel.

Robert Froli

Robert S. Froli, 37, died in a Long Beach Hospital on Monday after a period of illness.

Born in Carmel, Mr. Froli was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Froli, formerly of Carmel and now of Pomona, who survive him, as do his wife, Evelyn, and son, Robert, Jr., both of Long Beach; another son, Mark, and daughter, Janelle, both of Pacific Grove, and a brother, Richard Froli, of Corcoran, California. Another brother, William Froli, Jr., died during World War II when his plane was shot down during combat.

Mr. Froli himself was a World War II veteran, and spent several years in a German prison camp as a prisoner of war after being shot down over enemy territory early in the war. He attended Carmel elementary schools, then moved with his family first to King City, then to Gonzales where he entered the insurance business.

Graveside services were conducted this morning at the Sawtelle Veterans' Cemetery, preceded by Requiem Mass at St. Matthew's Catholic Church in Long Beach. The Dilday Mortuary of Long Beach has been in charge of arrangements.

In addition to his immediate family, Mr. Froli also leaves several cousins, among them Mrs. Robert Waldo Hicks of Carmel.

Public Invited To Eugene Jones Concert At Stevenson School

The public is invited to attend a free concert in Douglas Hall, Robert Louis Stevenson School, Pebble Beach, on Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock, presented by Eugene Jones, bass-baritone, accompanied by Gilbert Boyer.

Described by Alfred Frankenstein as "the find of the season," Mr. Jones will give a concert of oratorios, opera selections and Negro spirituals.

As the leading singer in the opera, Lost in the Stars, by Kurt Weill, and the Maxwell Anderson setting of Cry the Beloved Country by Alan Paton, Eugene Jones received tremendous ovations at the Berkeley Festival Theatre. On Sunday night he will sing four excerpts from this opera: Thousands of Miles, The Little Gray House, Lost in the Stars, and O Tixo, Tixo, Help Me!

Other selections on the program will be Why Do The Nations So Furiously Rage Together? and Arm, Arm Ye Brave, by Handel; Dormiro sol nel manto mio regal from Don Carlo, and Il Lacerato Spirito from Simon Boccanegra by Verdi; and the Prologue of Pagliacci by Leoncavallo. The program will conclude with a group of four Negro spirituals by Burleigh.

Born in Buffalo, New York, Mr. Jones has been a special student at San Francisco State College and the University of California where he has been studying with Peggy Donovan, director of the University of California Opera Workshop. He also has studied with Marsden Argall, well-known San Francisco voice coach and conductor.

Eugene Jones has done much solo work in northern California and was chosen for a role in Semele by Handel given in Hertz Hall at the University of California this season. The Echoes from Jordan

The beauty and sympathy of this noble work, not too easy to perform, inspired a large attendance. It was further enhanced by the solo singing of John Farr, baritone, and Shirley Welts, soprano.

Perhaps never before has the chance contained so large a number of both vocal and instrumental performers. It was impressive. The feeling and import of the Requiem clearly expressed the mood of the solemn day.

On Easter Sunday Mr. Forbes had arranged other appropriate music with the girls', boys' and adult choirs of All Saints' at three different services.

His opening of a joyous Purcell work was accompanied by trumpeters John Gosling and Judy Messier, who added sparkle to the happy announcement, and projected just the right atmosphere for the uplifted thought of that morning.

We now look forward to Purcell's chamber opera, Dido and Aeneas, to be given on the final programs of the Monterey Symphony Orchestra on May 14 and 15 with the chorus of Hartnell College and soloists. Few realize the great extent of this famous English composer's output in his short period (1658-1695). Suppression of music and instruments by the Puritans at this time, make his compositions all the more astonishing. No less than fourteen volumes of his works are published.

Choir which he conducts has been earning critical praise throughout California. Mr. Jones has been invited to bring his chorus to Washington, D.C., in 1963.

This Sunday evening's concert is one of the Fine Arts Series for students and faculty presented each year at the Robert Louis Stevenson School in connection with the music program.

Art On The Peninsula

A one-man show of water colors by Brigadier General Frank Dorn will open at the Hidden Village Galleries, 220 Olivier Street, Monterey, on May 1 and remain on display until June 3. The galleries are open to the public free of charge every day in the week from 11:30 in the morning until 2:30 in the afternoon, and from 7:00 in the evening until midnight. General Dorn lives in Carmel and is an active member of the Carmel Art Association.

General Dorn's water colors appear to be oil paintings. He achieves this effect by using only brilliant-colored Japanese paints and repeated over-painting.

Born in San Francisco, he studied at the San Francisco Institute of Art before entering the U.S. Military Academy. He graduated from West Point in 1923, then served actively in the U. S. Army until 1953 when he retired to devote his full time to painting and writing.

He has had one-man exhibits of his paintings in Paris, Madrid, Mexico City, Washington, D.C., and California, and recently has been invited to show his work in Holland and Germany.

He has published a novel, two gourmet cookbooks, short stories and articles. Another novel is tentatively scheduled for publication in February.

General Dorn spent over 13 years in Europe and the Far East (mostly in China, Japan and the Philippines) during his active Army career, and during World War II was a member of the staff of the late General Joseph W. Stilwell of Carmel.

Paintings donated by Peninsula artists will be auctioned tomorrow evening at the Gamble Galleries, 428 Cannery Row, as a benefit for the Bishop Kip School in Carmel.

The pictures will be on display at 7:00 o'clock. The auction, conducted by Don Turrentine and Walter Mole, will start at 8:00 o'clock. Donations of paintings will be accepted up till the time of the auction.

Those who already have promised pictures for the benefit are Joe Ataide, Kathryn Aurner, Burton Boudney, Ruth Buffington, Pat Carey, John Cunningham, Jeanne d'Orge (Mrs. Carl Cherry), Gene Elmore, Alex Gonzales, Mildred Hall, Anna Hoffmann, Leonard Heller, Ralph Jacobs, Jean La Pierre, Richard Lofton, Rip Matteson, Jon Mauser, Russel Swan, Ardith Terril, Abel Warshawsky, Barbara West, and S. C. Yuan.

Dorothy Bowman, Big Sur painter and serigrapher, submitted winning designs for stained glass windows that have been recommended for execution to the building committee of the new San Luis Obispo Methodist Church.

Her window designs, which interpreted the parables and writings of St. Luke, indicate an esthetic and philosophical understanding of contemporary art and architecture as applied to the traditional aspira-

RESERVED SEATS FOR OPERA AVAILABLE IN CARMEL

Reserved seat tickets for the Monterey Peninsula College opera, The Marriage Proposal, are now available at the Browse-Around in Carmel, Dr. Harvey Marshall, MPC music department chairman, announced today.

There is no charge for the tickets, according to Marshall, but persons planning to attend the opera on April 28 or May 6 must pick them up in advance.

The Marriage Proposal, an original opera by William Purdy of Carmel, will have its premiere performance on the earlier date at 8:30 o'clock in the evening in the new music hall on the MPC campus.

Featured in the three roles will be Karen Steinke and John Farr of Carmel, and Larry Swanson of Aptos.

Black Majesty, one of E. Cashion MacLennan's large bird compositions, depicting black swans with appropriate water plants, has been acquired by the State of California and will be hung in one of the state buildings at Sacramento. Black Majesty has been exhibited in important national juried exhibitions as well as in one-man shows at the Santa Barbara Art Museum and the Carmel Art Association Gallery.

Many of Mrs. MacLennan's bird compositions were made from sketches done at Fetherhill Ranch in Montecito, near Santa Barbara, where Chris Holmes had a large collection of tropical birds and wild animals.

Later, Chris Holmes moved to Hawaii, bought Muhu-o-loe (Coconut Island) on the windward side of Oahu, and made it a tropical paradise, taking with him some of the birds and his pet baby elephant. The rest of the animals he presented to the Fleishacker Zoo, San Francisco.

While Mr. and Mrs. MacLennan were in Hawaii recently, they were anxious to visit Muhu-o-loe where scientific investigations were being conducted by the University of Hawaii; and were fortunate to be allowed to visit the island. But Chris Holmes was no longer there; his pet elephant, they learned, was penned up in the Honolulu Zoo; and most of his collection of birds was gone, including the black swans.

Oakland, who is judging the Arena Blanca contest, will read the winning poems. A dinner at Su Vecino will precede the meeting. Mrs. H. V. Stewart is in charge of dinner reservations.

Arena Blanca Poets To Install Officers At May 19 Meeting

New officers of the Arena Blanca Chapter, California Federation of Chaparral Poets, are Mrs. Rollin Wilson, president; Mrs. Fred Beidleman, first vice president; Mrs. F. R. Gordon, second vice president; and Mrs. R. G. Minarik, secretary-treasurer and analyst.

The election took place at last week's meeting at Mrs. Beidleman's home. Miss Alma Anderson was co-hostess. The program concluded the year's series of original poetry readings with a selection of poems from each of the following members: Mrs. Charles H. Stilwell, Jr., Miss Vivian Wilkinson, Robert Bunney, and Mrs. Olivia Young.

At the May 19 meeting, to be held at the Carmel Art Association Galleries, Miss Anderson will conduct the installation of officers, and Mrs. Lida Pringle Stussie of

WEEK NIGHT CURTAIN AT 7:00 & 9:00
SATURDAY & SUNDAY CONTINUOUS FROM 3:00 P. M.

Worldwide-known naturalist Lester Rowntree of Carmel Highlands, 80 years old, sat under a 25-year-old pine tree in the arboretum at the University of California this month and chatted with admiring professors and students about her beloved flowers, plants and trees.

Collector, grower, supplier, author, lecturer—Lester Rowntree has few peers when it comes to knowledge of native California flora. She has felt beneath her feet virtually every acre where plant life exists in the state. Her excursions have taken her to other states and lands as well. While still a youngster of 60, Mrs. Rowntree often covered 15,000 miles, much of it on foot, during her questing season from March to November. Now in her 80s, she still prefers the great outdoors to ceilings and walls.

Since coming to America and finally settling in Carmel Highlands, where she lives on a knoll overlooking her garden of native plants and shrubs and the Pacific, Lester Rowntree has gained an international reputation. Requests for seeds of native California wildflowers from her famous collection have come from virtually every place where flowers are grown. But most people know her from her writings in magazines and journals and her books, Hardy Californians (1936) and Flowering Shrubs of California (1939), as well as Little Turkey and other children's books. Still others have been privileged to see and hear her speak.

To those who enjoyed this privilege at Davis, she spoke of the values in life to be learned from observing and experiencing Nature—genuineness, simplicity, serenity.

Lester Rowntree recalls being a rebel from the start and admits she must have been a great trial to her parents and nurses during her Victorian childhood in England. She remembers the constant admonitions to "stop running and put on your hat."

She hasn't stopped running yet—through hill and wood and desert in search of flowers, plants, and trees—and her slightly weathered, berry-brown face suggests an aversion to hats.

No exhibitor may make more than three entries in any one class, but may enter as many classes as desired. Exhibits may be registered at the multipurpose room at the school between 7:30 in the morning and 10:00 in the evening on May 4, or before 10:00 o'clock in the morning on May 5. There will also be educational and commercial exhibits.

Theme for the show will be Space Flight. Further information may

Mr. Timbers Bakes To Help Red Cross Fill Cookie Quota

Howard Timbers of Carmel, skier and grandfather, is also a cookie baker.

Twice each year, Mr. Timbers turns out batches of cookies for the Red Cross Gray Ladies to take to the patients at the U. S. Army Hospital, Fort Ord. The patients may be well fed at the hospital, but nothing to take the place of home made cookies can come from the kind of mass production necessary in army kitchens. "Besides, I am sure the patients enjoy knowing that people care enough to do this little something extra," he says.

May and November are the months the Carmel chapter requests 60 dozen cookies a week for ward parties and entertainment of the convalescent patients in the Red Cross lounge at the hospital.

Mr. Timbers has no specialty, just the cookie mix that appeals to him and that he thinks the soldier patients will like. Cookies, made by Mr. Timbers and others, will be collected at the chapter house on Mondays and Tuesday mornings, throughout the month of May.

10:30 o'clock. Lunch will be at noon. The afternoon program will begin at 1:00 o'clock. Health kits for children of migrant workers in the Hollister-Gilroy area this summer are to be handed in at this time. U. C. W. carries on an extensive educational, religious and recreational program throughout the summer for the children of migrants.

A Raisin In The Sun Opens At Circle Tomorrow Evening

The cast of A Raisin in the Sun, which opens tomorrow evening at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre, includes only one name familiar to Circle patrons, that of Russell Eddy. Star of such outstanding plays as A View from the Bridge, Waiting for Godot, and Summer of the Seventeenth Doll, Eddy will have a small but telling part as the only white man in Lorraine Hansberry's award-winning play about negro life in Chicago.

Sharing the major honors in the sizable cast are Flemen Hardy, young singing actor who has been featured in many Wharf Theatre productions, and Sarah Ector, Highland Elementary School teacher who is new to Peninsula stages. They are cast as son and mother in a household divided over the question of what to do with $10,000 insurance money which comes to them after the death of her husband. The son's rebellious and somewhat blasé sister and his long suffering young wife, both deeply involved in the outcome of his struggle, will be played by Ann Johnson and Frances Scott. The family circle is rounded out by 11-year-old Gary Millsap.

Other colorful roles include a wealthy and conceited college boy, played by Robert Goodwin, a shiftless drinking crony with impractical schemes for getting rich, providing choice acting opportunities for Luther Chouteau, and a Nigerian student who throws the manners and mores of American negroes into revealing perspective, portrayed by Keiser Richard Smith.

Director of A Raisin in the Sun is Nick Zanides. Settings are by Ruth Jordan Allan, and lighting by Reed Putnam. It will play for six week ends following tomorrow's benefit performance for the Ocean View Baptist Church.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Easter week is over and it is time to settle down to some serious reading. Here are a few new books to try.

There is always a need for books for children. Adults tremble today before the necessity of purchasing books for the small fry in their families, because they are fearful of buying something second rate and thus harming the youthful minds of the recipients. In all truth this is a hard thing to do. Children slough off the undesirable in second rate books and grow up to be upstanding adults, even as you and I. But there are so many excellent books that a guide to them is a lovely thing to have. Such a guide is My Roads To Childhood by Anne Carroll Moore. This is a paper bound re-issue of five essays by this authority on children's literature. All are written in charming fashion and all are accompanied by annotated booklists. This book will be shelved at the desk in the Children's Room, but may be borrowed by anyone who wishes it. There are other books on the same subject shelved at the same location. Ask the Children's Librarian for them.

Charles Borden has a book entitled South Sea Islands. Having previously done one on Hawaii, he now discusses a great number of the small islands of the South Seas, and does it so well that the reader becomes a sort of spiritual beach comber long before the book is ended.

Group therapy in psychoanalysis is explained by Dr. Norman Locke, who has called his book on the subject Group Psychoanalysis.

Many of us first encountered Corey Ford by joyous perusal of his How To Guess Your Age. Since then he has had published three other books, all hilariously funny. His latest is called What Every Bachelor Knows, and Ford knows because he is a bachelor. The book is dedicated to all the girls he has made happy by not marrying them, and with that as a starter he goes on to make all of his readers happy by being extremely amusing and clever. And while we are on the subject of funniness, the next book is The Greatest Laughs of All Time collected by Gerald Lieberman. These are the jokes that are so good the professional funny men borrow them over and over again. They are arranged by subject and

MPC DEDICATION CONCERT SUNDAY FREE TO PUBLIC

Dedication ceremonies for the recently-completed creative arts center at Monterey Peninsula College will precede a baroque concert on Sunday afternoon, according to Dr. Frederick R. Huber, MPC president.

Both events will be open to the public, free of charge, in the MPC Music Hall, with the dedication set for 3:00 o'clock, the concert at 4:00.

The concert will be presented by the College String Ensemble, a group including Muriel Brady, Marilyn Fitzgerald, Harold Nicholas, the compilation should be excellent for anyone working up a speech, or for anyone feeling a little sad and woeful. A million laughs!

What is so pleasant as a book by Mary McCarthy? And now we have a new one in which she discusses, in unhurried fashion, her opinions of a number of things and ideas and customs. The title is On The Contrary.

From the book full of laughs we quote:

"Epitaph in a British Abbey:
Here lies Ann Mann,
Lived an old maid,
Died an old Mann."

Audrey Richardson, Sharon Jones and instructor John Erickson, violinists; Mary Dobel and Mary Ann Jones, cellists; William Green and Marie Sale, violists; Robert Phillips, bass, and Herbert Myers, harpsichordist.

Works by Handel, Telemann, Elgar and Hindemith will comprise the program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How divine guidance aids man in his efforts to make spiritual progress will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled
"Probation After Death" will include these words of the Psalmist:
"As for God, his way is perfect:
the word of the Lord is tried: he is a buckler to all those that trust in him . . . It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect" (Psalm 18).

This citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be read (p. 324):

"The way is straight and narrow,
which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter, — certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God."

Busy Holidays at Wilsons'

Mrs. Roderick Wilson reports that Easter week was humming at the Wilson home. League Provisionals Welcomed

New provisional members of the Monterey Peninsula League, Incorporated, were introduced at a tea given recently by the sustaining members at the Pebble Beach home of Mrs. Matthew Jenkins.

At the same time, the officers of the League for 1962-63 were announced. Mrs. Willard Branson will serve as president for the second year. Mrs. Derek Rayne is first vice-president; Mrs. Robert Grainger, second vice-president. Also on the executive board are Mrs. Walter Williams, recording secretary; Mrs. William McDougal, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Edward Taylor, treasurer.

Among the provisionals are four from the Carmel area. Mrs. Brooks Firestone (Catherine Boulton) lives in Pebble Beach and has two small children, Hayley and Adam. Mrs. Laurence Horan (Jean Wood) of lower Carmel Valley has two sons, Kevin and Stephen, and two daughters, Kathleen and Maureen. Mrs. Frederick Rider (Marcia Kuster), a native Carmelite, who lives in Mission Fields, is the wife of a local theatre director and the mother of 11-month-old Kate. Mrs. Richard Tourangeau has four children, Lisa, Amy, Todd, and Paul. Both she and Mrs. Horan are the wives of Carmel attorneys.

Dianne Dodd Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Dodd of Pebble Beach are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Dianne, and John Bohlman of Carmel Valley.

Dianne, a graduate of Castilleja School in Palo Alto, and whose sister, Gloria, is a student at the same school, is the granddaughter of Mrs. Joe Nesbitt and the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Dodd of Fresno. She attended both the University of Oregon and the University of Geneva in Switzerland. She is currently associated with the Monterey school system at La Mesa School.

John's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Theodore Bohlman of Portland, Oregon. Mrs. Robert J. Callagy of Berkeley is his sister. Mrs. H. T. Bohlman of Portland and the late Mr. Bohlman are his grandparents. He graduated from the University of Oregon, where he was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and now makes his home in Carmel Valley.

The couple plan an August wedding.

Pop Has Visitors

The Reverend and Mrs. A. B. Secombe, formerly of Carmel but now living with their four children in Walnut Creek, were weekend visitors in Carmel and while they were here called on their old friend, Pop Smith. The Reverend Secombe was rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church during the 1940's and moved from here with his family about 10 years ago.

Pop reports a strenuous night before Easter: attending a performance at the First Theatre in the evening, then getting up at 4:00 o'clock the next morning for the Easter sunrise service at the drive-in theatre by the Fairgrounds. "I'm still making up sleep," says Pop.

To Entertain Before Ball

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels will have 16 guests, including friends from Fresno, for cocktails and supper before the Beaux Arts ball on Saturday.

Audubon Society Plans

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will conduct an overnight field trip into the Arroyo Seco and Jolon area of Monterey County on Sunday and Monday.

Sunday's midday meeting place will be the upper camp grounds in Los Padres National Forest near the Arroyo Seco River, which can be reached either from Greenfield, on the Arroyo Seco Canyon road, or over the hills from the upper Carmel Valley. The group will gather that evening at Keefer's Restaurant in King City for a 6:00 o'clock dinner, with overnight accommodations in King City motels.

The second day will be spent at Nacimiento Dam and in the Jolon valley. Members of the group are asked to provide their own picnic lunches for both days.

Vern Yadon, curator of the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History, will lead the group and identify birds and wildflowers during the trip.

The society's annual boat trip to observe the black-footed albatross and other pelagic species, will take place June 18. The boat will leave Stagnaro's Landing on the Santa Cruz municipal wharf at 7:30 o'clock in the morning, travel 12 miles offshore and return to Santa Cruz about four hours later.

Reservations must be made in advance as the boat's capacity is limited to 50 passengers. Those who are interested may write for tickets and further information to Mrs. Viola Anderson, 1015 Connely Street, Salinas, or call MA 4-6644.

Cradle Rocking at All Saints'

The eighth annual Cradle Rocking will take place at All Saints' Episcopal Church on Mother's Day, May 13, at the 9:15 o'clock morning family service.

Babies of the parish will be introduced to the family of the church by being placed in a cradle and rocked while the children of the Sunday School sing a lullaby.

The cradle, made especially for the occasion by Bill A. Sanford, is a copy of a 150-year-old cradle owned by Douglas A. Graham.

The primary department of the church extends an invitation to all service families and others in the area to bring their babies and participate in this traditional event. A coffee hour will follow the service.

Those who wish further information are asked to call Mrs. Townsend, MA 4-8456, or Mrs. John Rennels, MA 4-2201.

Hampton Stewart Home

"Only 28 days to go!" states Airman Third Class Hampton S. Stewart III, who was at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hampton S. Stewart, Jr., of Pebble Beach, on a one-day pass on Monday.

Hampton, a Carmel High School graduate of 1957, recently graduated from the United States Air Force training course for medical service specialists at Gunter Air Force Base, Alabama, and has been assigned to the 44th Casualty Staging Squadron at Travis AFB, San Jose.

Airman Stewart was a student at the University of California at Santa Barbara before entering the service in November, 1961. After his discharge he plans to go into the produce business with his father.

Here For Kate's Birthday

Kate Rider will be one year old on May 19 and present at the celebrations will be her paternal grandmother, Mrs. William J. Rider of Danbury, Connecticut, also her great-aunt, Mrs. M. C. Beal of Poughkeepsie, New York, Mrs. Rider's sister.

Mrs. Rider will be the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rider, until Mrs. Beal arrives in two weeks' time, then she and Mrs. Beal will move into a house they have rented here for a month.

Silver Anniversary For Sandees

A surprise party to honor the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sandees was given for them on Saturday night by their daughter, Susan, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stuefloten.

Friends who gathered to celebrate the happy occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Blanks, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Scheffer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Artellan, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Leidig, Mr. and Mrs. Newt Goodrich, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Drennan of Rodeo.

Open House Sunday

Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver will hold open house on Sunday from 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon in her studio-residence at the corner of San Carlos Street and Thirteenth Avenue in honor of members of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

She will also welcome any friends who would like to meet the musicians, or who are interested in the orchestra. No program is planned. The informal affair will be held in her studio and on the patio.

A few of the guests will be playing that afternoon at Monterey Peninsula College at 4:00 o'clock and will not come to the party until afterwards. So, Miss Lindsay-Oliver says, "Do not feel it is too late to come."

Tyson's Entertain Before Ball

Mr. and Mrs. James Tyson will give a dinner party Saturday night and afterwards everyone will go on to the Beaux Arts ball at the Monterey Fairgrounds.

Out of Army, Into Valley

After 20 years' military service, Sergeant First Class Ray W. Hammack recently received his certificate of retirement from Lieutenant Colonel James Snelling, commanding officer of the 12th Evacuation Hospital at Fort Ord.

Sergeant Hammack, who was in charge of the X-ray section of the hospital, has lived for a year in Carmel Valley. He and his wife, a native of Germany, and widely traveled, have decided to make the Valley their permanent home. "It's a wonderful place for gardening," he comments.

Visits Henry Williams

William J. Shearer of Toronto, brother-in-law of Mrs. Henry Meade (Mona) Williams, was an Easter week end houseguest of the Williamses. Mr. Shearer, on a business trip to Vancouver, had heard so much about Carmel from his wife, who is Mona's sister Rosamund, a frequent visitor here, that he decided to include Carmel in his itinerary.

He told the Williamses that he had rarely seen such beautiful weather as Carmel had last week. "And 15 minutes after he left on Sunday," comments Henry, "the fog rolled in."

This week end Mona and Henry are going to Los Angeles to visit their two daughters, Mrs. Ed Bryant (Karen Williams), and Mrs. Jack Faia (Lacy Williams); and their two granddaughters, Jessica Bryant, five and a half years old, and three-month-old Melissa Faia.

hold kindergarten registration from 9:00 to 4:00 o'clock on May 16 and 17, and Carmelo at the same hours on May 14 and 15.

Persons who remember to turn their clocks ahead one hour before they go to bed Saturday night will have no Daylight Saving Time problems on Sunday. The time change is officially at 2:00 o'clock Sunday morning.

At noon today, E. J. Foley, California Division of Highways engineer for District Five, and his assistant, Ralph Leonjod, looked at the cliffside site, proposed for co-operative apartment development, in Carmel Highlands to see whether ingress and egress to the site might create a traffic hazard on Highway One.

Tuesday, the county planning commission postponed approval of designs for the ten-unit project until they received an opinion on the traffic hazard situation from the Division of Highways.

At the site today, also, were State Senator Fred Farr, representing adjacent property owners, John McDaniels, president of the Carmel Highlands Association, and Will Shaw, chairman of the Carmel Highlands advisory committee to the county planning commission.

Both the association and the committee oppose the apartment development as a traffic hazard, also as detrimental to the character of the Highlands community.

Last night Carmel Unified School District approved landscape plans shown by Watsonville landscape architects Peter Sabin and Art Hyde for Carmel Junior High School which will cost the district some $64,292 and call for an extremely attractive, "well-tailored" core area around the main buildings on the new campus. This is to be surrounded by what Sabin described as "low-maintenance stubble growth of wild-flowers and rye which can be mowed with a sickle bar—something like a controlled meadow, with trees."

Sabin said the arrangement would give the periphery of the new school an informal, ranch look, with lawns and such cover as Albanian ivy and other more formal plantings confined to the inner courts.

Alton Walker of Pebble Beach won the over-all grand prize in last Saturday's 12th annual Concours d'Elegance with his 1913 Rolls Royce Silver Ghost, used by the Prince of Wales, now Duke of Windsor, when he visited the United States in 1919.

He also took a third place in the American classic cars closed class with a 1937 Cord Model 810 and first place in the pre-war Rolls Royce open class with the same 1913 Rolls. Mrs. Walker garnered a second place in the antique car class with a 1915 Milburn Electric.

The county planning commission, Tuesday, took no action on rezoning Pico Blanco. They received a petition, signed by 119 persons, and two telegrams, signed by six persons, requesting that the mountain be placed in an interim zone as a means to halt rumored quarrying of limestone on the summit, visible from Highway One in the Little Sur region. A letter from Carol C. Kobus of Rocky Creek favored the mining.

Traditions survive in Carmel. Witness one ballot cast on April 10 in the municipal election for Pon Chung, Carmel's perennial write-in candidate for all offices. This time he was proposed as a city councilman.

Carmel city councilmen and members of city commissions are seated, since the last council meeting, in new red upholstered armchairs. Fortunately they arrived in time for Commander John Chitwood to use them before his term expired on April 17.

New tables have also been ordered but, as yet, have not arrived. With the new furniture and installation of the memorial art museum pictures on the walls, the council chambers are much more attractive.

It won't be long, it appears this week, before Americans admonishing someone overly "het up" may say, "Take a trip to the moon and cool off!" and the objective will be realizable, also a complete change from the destination heretofore usually suggested.

A new show will open at the Carmel Art Association on May 2. Chairman of the hanging committee is Edith Dinkin, assisted by Jessie MacGregor, Frank Dorn, Fred Klepich, Jack Morse, Leslie Emery, Richard Lofton, and Robert Davey.

Editorial . . .

each they have battled.

On May 29, they will return to Salinas to wage war against approval of designs for the ten-unit co-operative apartment development, predominately on the ground that such a project will create a traffic hazard on Highway One.

Previously, for this reason, the county planning commission did not allow a motel on land adjacent to the proposed site of the co-operative apartments. So, armed with this precedent and reinforced with legal counsel, Highlands residents again next month are prepared to defend their community.

However, many violations-of-the-scenic-beauty-of-Highway-One battle cries will be heard.

But, the land bordering Highway One from the Carmel River to Malpaso Creek, which includes the Highlands, is the only coastal stretch between Carmel and the San Luis Obispo County line not contained in the Monterey County Coast Master Plan to preserve the scenic beauty along Highway One.

Therefore, the battle-seasoned members of the Carmel Highlands Association might well consider an offensive action and petition the county for a master plan and zoning to protect that part of the coast highway in their area, also the residential character of the Highlands community.

As long as commercial and multiple dwelling zones exist in the Highlands region, owners of such property, in this land of free enterprise, have the right to develop in accordance with established legal use, unless the county planning commission decides such development is in conflict with the public welfare according to conditions in the county code.

Protesting cries of dismay, anger and anguish are not conditions that can be considered by the county planning commission. Creation of a traffic hazard is, but might finally result in the widening of Highway One, also undesirable to Highlands residents.

The time has come for members of the Carmel Highlands Association to abandon brief skirmishes, gird for a long battle, and win comparative peace with a master plan.

—Marjory Lloyd.

Suzanne Bestor Wed

Yesterday in Berkeley, Suzanne Elizabeth Bestor became the bride of Joseph Stewart of Oakland in a ceremony at Trinity Methodist Church.

Given in marriage by her father, George C. Bestor of Carmel, Sue wore a pale blue silk shantung suit with matching shoes and white hat, and carried white flowers.

Her mother is Mrs. Constance Bestor of Berkeley. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Stewart of Oakland.

Suzanne, a Carmel High School graduate, attended College of the Pacific, and the University of Vienna. She is completing her studies at the University of California at Berkeley, majoring in English.

Her sole attendant at the Wednesday afternoon wedding was her friend and roommate in Vienna and Berkeley, Miss Demaris Goulding.

Her husband, a 1958 graduate of Cal, has been doing graduate work in biology at San Francisco State College. He will be a student of German at the Institute of Foreign Studies on the Peninsula this summer, prior to entering pre-medical studies at the University of Heidelberg in the fall.

Best man at the wedding, which was witnessed by relatives and close friends of the bridal pair, was the bridegroom's friend, Leslie Baronian.

Suzanne's three sisters are Penny, who is also a student at Cal, majoring in psychology; and Jennifer and Veronica (Bonnie) Bestor, both daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Bestor of Carmel.

The newlyweds will make their home in Carmel for the summer.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH PICNIC

The third annual parish pilgrimage and picnic of All Saints' Episcopal Church will be held on Sunday at Santa Lucia Chapel, Big Sur. The church service will take place on the church property, adjoining River Village, at 10:00 o'clock daylight saving time. The picnic will be held immediately following the services in Pfeiffer State Park, Big Sur.

The parish will provide hot coffee, soft drinks and ice cream for everyone attending. The large barbecue pit in the picnic area will be available to picnickers.

Following the picnic, a program of games and sporting events will be open to participants of all ages.

In charge of events of the day are Richard Hittinger, Jr., James Neill, Speirs Ruskell, William Monroe, George Schroeder, and John Monroe.

CARMELITE INJURED

Mrs. Louise Marshall, 45, of Mesa and Atherton drives, was injured last night at 9:50 o'clock when a car driven by her husband, Everett, slowed to avoid a deer on the Monterey-Salinas Highway and was struck from the rear by a car following the Marshall vehicle. That car was also struck from behind by a car following it, according to the California Highway Patrol. Mrs. Marshall was taken to Monterey Hospital with leg bruises and other injuries.

Letters . . .

The following letter is a copy of one sent to the Carmel City Council this week and sent to The Pine Cone by Admiral Fisher.

Carmel Citizens Committee,
Box 1101,
Carmel-by-the-Sea,
April 24, 1962.

The Honorable City Council
City Hall
Carmel-by-the-Sea.
Gentlemen,

About a year ago, when the matter of imposing a room tax was presented to the Council, the feeling was expressed that when the other cities of the Peninsula were ready to do so, then Carmel might well adopt such a tax. At a recent meeting of the Monterey City Council such a tax failed to pass by a vote of 3 to 2, but there also it was indicated that when the other cities were ready, a favorable vote could be expected. The other cities probably feel the same way. It would seem, therefore, that the time is ripe for the matter to be taken up again.

An important reason exists for the Peninsula cities to adopt room taxes now. It is that without doubt the State of California will use this revenue producer before long, thus pre-empting the field and using the income for State purposes.

Bakersfield recently adopted a room tax in connection with financing their new auditorium with reportedly no diminution whatever in hotel or motel occupancies. Room taxes are now so prevalent that Carmel should have no reason to fear its experience would be any different from that of Bakersfield.

We therefore recommend that the Carmel City Council take up this matter again and adopt a room tax before the State does so.

Very truly,
The Board of Directors,
Carmel Citizens Committee,
By
C. W. Fisher, President

Those on the tour will have tea at the Jimmy Hatlo home. Those seeing the pictures at 3:00 o'clock at Town House will be served tea at 4:00 o'clock as always.

Mrs. Thomas was 72, and had been a resident of the Highlands for the past three years, coming from her former home at Pampa, Texas.

She was born in Bell County, Texas, on June 30, 1889. Her husband, Charles L. Thomas, preceded her in death in 1946.

Survivors are a son, Charles Thomas of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. A. S. Graham of Glenrock, Wyoming; a sister, Mrs. Lila Day of Fort Worth, and four grandchildren, Joe, Jan, Jene and Ouida Maria Graham of Glenrock.

Burial, following the services at Pampa, Texas, was to follow in the Fairview Cemetery at Pampa. The Paul Mortuary has been in charge of local arrangements.

Irma Randolph

Final rites were held Monday in Oakland for Mrs. Irma May Randolph of Oakland, who died unexpectedly in Carmel Friday morning, while visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Holyoake.

A native of Salt Lake City, where Mrs. Randolph was born July 20, 1885, she had lived in Oakland for the past 54 years and been a frequent Carmel visitor. She leaves two sons, John Randolph of Oakland, and Wade Randolph of Shasta, California.

Sunset, Woods, River Announce Plans For Public Schools Week

10:15 o'clock on the lower playground. Seating capacity is 250, according to the invitations sent out this week, and past experience indicates that many late-comers may have to remain standing while the many classes at River dance and sing to classic American and international folk rhythms.

The annual Woods festival will be held on Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon on the kindergarten lawn. This is also a popular event at the school, with all parents, grandparents and friends invited. The Pine Cone received an invitation to the festival with a floral design hand-painted by Margaret Demarest, Woods fifth grader.

At both Woods and River, parents and friends have been given open invitations to visit any classroom at random during the week.

At Sunset, attention of prospective visitors has been especially called by Principal Orville Rogers to: art at 9:00 o'clock in Room 17, math the same hour in Room 9, shop at 10:30 o'clock in Room 16, math-science at 12:45 o'clock in Room 8, and music at 2:10 o'clock in Room 18, all on Monday.

Tuesday's special classes will be math-science at 9:00 o'clock in Room 7, English-history at 9:25 o'clock in Room 6, at 11:15 o'clock in Room 3, at 1:00 o'clock in Room 6, and at 1:00 o'clock in Room 3, and core in Room 2 at 2:15 o'clock.

A French class will be open to visitors on Wednesday at 3:00 o'clock in Room 2; on Thursday math-science classes will be open in Room 11 at 8:45 and 10:30 o'clock, with poetry readings at 11:00 o'clock in Room 4, math-science again at 2:45 o'clock in Room 11, poetry again at 1:30 in Room 4, and social studies at 2:15 o'clock in Room 5.

On Friday, May 4, last day of Public Schools Week, Sunset students will try their skill at dancing too, with folk and square dancing in the gymnasium beginning at 8:45 o'clock in the morning. Poetry reciting will follow at 10:50 o'clock in Room 10.

Also on Wednesday, open house will be held in all classrooms with exhibits, samples of students' work and music by choir and band on the program along with sixth grade folk dancing and 7th and 8th grade girls' tumbling exhibitions.

There will also be displays of arts and crafts in the cafeteria all through the week.

Adjusted School Budget Does Not Meet Law

balance of $118,895 on the preliminary budget based on the current salary schedule, but only $4,785 using the preliminary budget based on the new ACT schedule.

But there were some bright moments in the long study of the budget which stretched last night's board meeting to nearly midnight. Trustees noted with pride that no money will be needed for food service next year, under the board's policy adopted the past year on making school cafeterias self-sustaining through more efficiency and if necessary higher lunch prices.

Also Charles Moody, chairman of the ACT salary committee, appeared before the board with an adjusted salary schedule approved by "the overwhelming majority" of his organization. The new figures show a range of from $4,900 at the lowest step to $10,290 for a career teacher with 21 years' experience. Representing a $100 increase in minimum salaries, it more nearly meets the suggestions of board members who thought the earlier ACT salaries should have higher minimums to attract better new teachers instead of unchanged minimums and higher maximums, as the ACT figures first showed.

The new compromise schedule, which would call for a 4 per cent increase in teacher salaries over the present salary schedule, was presented following meetings of teachers and administration.

Board member Dr. Robert Newton congratulated Moody on what he termed "a realistic compromise between the teachers' ideals and budgetary limitations." The prior ACT schedule would have meant a 4.4 per cent increase over present salaries.

Dealing with a related matter of finance last night, the school board approved bid award recommendations in the amount of $13,980.59 for supplies and equipment, sidestepping an additional request of $6,509.95 on physical education and athletic equipment after trustee Clayton Neill, Jr., said he thought the board should hold off on such items "until we see where we want to trim the new budget. It might well be the trimming should be on athletic equipment."

Broken down, the expenditures under the bid awards will be: general and art supplies, $13,227.13; janitorial supplies and equipment, $5,089.19; playground and gymnasium (items already covered by bond money raised for the new Carmel Junior High School), $8,523.48, and first-aid supplies, $367.92.

Dr. Richard Snyder presided over the board meeting in the absence of President Dr. Grant Fletcher.

Approach Peace By Political Means Mrs. Roosevelt Says

In a packed conference room at the Monterey Airport early yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt talked and smiled and answered questions put to her by news reporters and journalism students. She spoke with wit and wisdom, and as always, charmed her audience.

Asked why the work of such United Nations organizations as UNESCO and WHO is unfamiliar to the general public, Mrs. Roosevelt replied that "good things rarely make news," it is the fault of the newspapers that we are unaware of the steady, sure progress that these organizations are making, she added.

Commenting upon methods by which an individual can work for peace, Mrs. Roosevelt emphasized that ways toward peace must be analyzed, plans laid, and approaches toward these plans made through political means.

"In reply to a question about the effectiveness of the Peace Corps, Mrs. Roosevelt said that although it is too soon to tell what gains have been made, it has done well so far. "But just imagine," she went on to say, "what it will be like in two years' time, when these young people come back to our country, people who have actually lived for two years in other lands." Her face lighted up. "Then they can educate the rest of us."

Violinist Jaime Laredo Displays Great Facility, Subtlety Of Style In Music Society Performance

BY EREN WHITTLESEY

The younger married set was represented on the stage of Sunset Auditorium last Tuesday as the Carmel Music Society presented for their final concert of the regular season Jaime Laredo, violinist, accompanied by his attractive wife, Ruth Laredo. A well balanced and worthwhile program ranged from Tartini to Hindemith, held the interest of the audience and exhibited the very considerable gift of the violinist. Playing an instrument of particularly fine tone, Mr. Laredo displayed impressive technique and great musical integrity.

The gracious and somewhat uneventful Tartini sonata in G Minor was played with a gracious and clean style. This was followed by the Mozart Adagio in E Major, K 261, played with feeling and simplicity. The artist managed throughout the concert to convey the feeling of sincerity and joy in the music which is sometimes noticeably lacking at the hands of artists of superior brilliance of style. This was followed by a second Mozart work, the Rondeau in C Major, K 373, a work of greater dramatic scope requiring more of a virtuoso technique. Still the artist's emphasis was on warmth and sincerity of style. His execution had a lightness and flexibility that lent itself particularly to Mozart.

Mendelssohn's Sonata in F Major completed the first half of the program. Here was greater scope for virtuosity, and particularly greater opportunity for the young pianist. One had the feeling at many points during the evening that the piano assumed a position of dominance not justified by the score. The third movement of this work gave especial scope to the speed and precision of the violin and brought out the remarkable tone coloring which Laredo possesses. The artist was eloquent without being in any sense sloppy or emotional.

The two modern works which followed the intermission were played with equal understanding and interpretative skill. Hindemith's Sonata in E Major, No. 3 was played with great coherence and understanding. The bits of humor which seem to characterize this composer were fully intelligible. Again the piano seemed a little to dominate the scene. The interpretation as well as the music itself served to remind us that the moderns are often far from austere.

A nocturne and tarantella by Szymanowski rounded out the program, providing much interest in the line of tone color. It employs unusual and attenuated tones. The rather weird attenuated tonal effects in this work were handled ists," Mrs. Roosevelt commented that "they seem to have the same objectives as communists: they want to destroy the United Nations; nothing would please the communists more. I am amazed," she continued, "that young people, who are usually so logical, ever join these groups."

Mrs. Roosevelt came here to speak last night at Monterey Peninsula College.

lishment of an elementary area bounded by Thirteenth and Ocean avenues and including Carmel Hills and South Carmel Hills across Highway One, it was explained by Assistant Superintendent of Schools Wayne Greenfield. The arrangement would call for two sixth grades at Sunset, but only one session of kindergarten, either morning or afternoon.

This would create several problems, it was pointed out, among them the fact that a single kindergarten would necessarily include both "older" and younger kindergartners in the same class, whereas they are divided into morning (for the younger) and afternoon sessions at other Carmel elementary schools.

Also, River School Principal William O'Connell told the board, services of the school nurse, remedial reading and speech teachers are already "spread too thin" among the four elementary schools, not counting Sunset.

"In any expanding school district there will be problems of this kind," Superintendent Stuart Mitchell said. "We will have certain problems no matter what we do."

Cost-wise, Greenfield estimated, adoption of the current suggestion would mean addition of a custodian and some $1,500 to $1,800 in remodeling and equipment.

expertly by the artist, and there was a particularly happy blend of the two instruments. A single encore rewarded enthusiastic applause. It was a modern work, that might have been by Bloch. All in all, Mr. Laredo proved to be an artist of great facility and no little subtlety of style. The beauty of tone was consistent throughout the concert.
